

The Borderland

February 28, 2009

This awakening is an integration; what we might call subtle body reconfiguration. That's a good way to describe it. In other words, you are becoming increasingly aware of subtle body configuration. I mean, it's obvious to you that you're not a gross body – a piece of meat. It's obvious that's not what you are. That's just an effect that's WAY down the line. And it's becoming increasingly subtle. Or you're becoming increasingly aware of its transparency. The body is neither gross nor subtle, it's nothing. It's just a thought.

In the transition you are becoming re-familiarized, re-associated with subtle body configuration. We can call that communication or you are becoming more & more aware of the communication which transcends the body identity altogether. This is you now in your experiment with yourself. It's going to reach ultimately the point where you look at the body and laugh. You see that it's never contained you. You've been coming & going all the time. You've made a choice to associate within its context. That decision is ultimately one you can change your mind about it.

You need to understand that the context of all of this which is arising is Love or Light – it's benevolent, it's benign, it's wholly giving. You need to understand that, otherwise you think something is being taken from you. You decided to associate with yourself in a particular manner, and the evidence of that decision is being revealed to you as effects. OK, I want to swing a baseball bat and I want to hit the ball with the baseball bat. I want to do that. I have a very strong desire to do that. Or to kick a soccer ball. What happens? The desire manifests as an idea, an effect which allows you to have the joy of that experience.

The only thing that happens is this: having enjoyed the experience, you forgot that you're the cause, that's all. It's not that it's just a thought in your mind now. Once you've forgotten...phew, you're in trouble. Jesus refers to this as The Hero of the Dream. No one asleep and dreaming remembers a time when the thought of a body would make you laugh. The thought of being contained would make you laugh. No one remembers that because they've taken it so seriously. The instant you forget to laugh, you're fucked! I mean, the instant you forget to laugh, you're in trouble.

I'm trying to help you to associate with increasingly subtle configurations of energy; even within the context of your body identity. I'm not denying your body identity. I don't care that you associate with a body, what do I care! It makes no difference at all. My suggestion to you is allow it to be a subtle or transparent body, or associate with higher frequencies of body identity, so that you don't feel trapped. The only problem is that you feel trapped and contained within a body identity and you feel like there's no way out – that's a lie! That's not true – you can leave any time you choose.

You're not contained even now. So, what you need is a context. That's what I'm trying to provide you with; associations with subtle configurations of body identity. It's what you all represent – that’s why you’re with me. You’re here with me in order to share with me this transitional frequency. It will involve our associations with one another. We don’t recognise each other as physical constructs or idols of identity, or as objective ideas. We are communicating at more subtle frequencies that transcend the gross physical idea.

So if you get stuck within the body configuration, if you feel like the body has some sort of power over you or is affecting you in one way or another, remember your brother – the one that’s been given you to remind you that you’re not a body. The one that’s in Light standing next to you, and you will be relieved of that dense physical association. Is this something you need to hear? I think so because He’s asking me to say it. He wants to move into the Borderland of thought. That’s what He asked me to read.

There is a borderland and it’s a borderland of thought. In other words, it’s a vibratory frequency. And you are associating increasingly with that vibratory frequency. And the body is thereby revealed as an illusion. It’s happening to you by Grace. You can just breathe into it – you don’t have to worry about it. Of course that’s going to involve the entire practice, which is I no longer want to associate with a gross body identity. Yes? It’s a decision you have to make. Why do you have to make a decision? Because you made a decision to associate with it. Now you have to make a decision not to.

The choice ultimately has reality at all. It’s just a decision that you think you have. How do I know you think you have? Well, you’re here. And if you’re here, you must have made a decision to associate within the context of a physical body. I’ve just come to remind you that you can make another choice. And the decision you can make is based on what you are, not what you’ve become because of what you think you are. You’re not a body, you’re spirit. You’re the Light of the world. All the ways in which we try to demonstrate it to you.

Everything will change as you stand in your true identity. Now, you’ve been exposed to that identity, to the Light. In other words, it’s just a matter of identifying with the Light, and allowing the identity to become increasingly subtle, your body to become increasingly transparent. Now there’s fear associated with that. Of course. You’ve tried long and hard to make the body real – the serial adventures of the body identity. That’s how Jesus describes it. Are you OK guys? What did I just say? I said a whole lot.

My function, my responsibility is to teach you to breathe and allow this transformation – this continuing revelation of the transparency. The body is obviously transparent – it’s obvious it can’t interfere with vision, not once you’ve made a decision to see. Once you’ve made the decision to see, the body disappears. It can no longer interfere with sight because you made that decision. It doesn’t mean you are not aware of it. But it does mean that you’re aware that it’s becoming increasingly subtle, transparent – if you fix your attention on the Light. How does that translate? I’m going to give you some practical advice. How does that translate? My suggestion: if you feel dense, if you feel thick, just associate with a higher vibrational frequency. You can look at your body pastimes if you like. Guys, can you feel me a little bit?

Look at your pastimes or what you do within the context of your body idea, how you spend your time. Are you making it real? In other words, are you engaged with activities or associations of identity which involve a fake physical identity. Are you addicted to friction? Friction is either suffering or Tantra, you decide. It’s both of those things. You are making the decision. How thick are you? Be thick enough to be tantric. Come on! You're not a body. You're just barely touching down. You're not allowing it to become dense. You are just becoming physical enough to enjoy it. All the while maintaining your contact, your association with the Light – just a suggestion.

It takes practice, vigilance. I'm here on behalf of the Light – or all the ways in which you individually practise it. Now that will lead to the point where you are no longer perceiving differences and this will be the next step for you. You no longer perceive differences, and you are aware of the Light consistently. And the body doesn't have a chance to become dense enough for it to become sick. A sick body is a loss of identification with the Light. That's absolutely true – you're not gonna get around it. If you are sick, you have denied God. No way around it. I'm not going to console you in your sickness because it's a decision. Say to me, sickness is a decision. That's the end of it. I'm not going to do anything else with that – that's all there is to say about it. You cannot get around it. The solution has been given you. You're not that. There is another way of associating with yourself wherein which the body functions perfectly to fulfil the task that has been given you in this integrative healing. Are you OK guys? Did you get all that?

I mean, I'm explaining it. There's nothing wrong with explaining. I enjoy explaining, because I see it with such clarity. There's no dogma – very plain language. That's what makes me a good teacher – plain language. I don't like dogma anymore than you do. All around you is the evidence. Salamanders. What are they? Evidence of a subtle awareness which is inclusive and you are becoming more & more re-familiarised with the subtle awareness. That's going to involve your desire for that. I understand that you are afraid of it, but its occurring by grace.

You are being given exactly as much as you are ready to receive but at the same time, you are with one, me, this one, who keeps it moving. I won't allow it to settle. I like when the water is moving. I don't like it when it sits. I like to keep the water moving – that's why I open the drain. It's important to open the drain – get that sphincter opened up. Just a suggestion. In other words, let the Light fall all the way through. The Light is the water, the water is the Light. That's how you purify – by allowing the Light to flow through you. You have to open the bottom up for that to occur.

You're not a body. Its communication. We can enjoy that resolution together. Hearing me is just seeing the Light. Everything is clear in the Light. Everything makes perfect sense. There's no obstruction. Nothing that interferes with vision. Interference is what the illusion was. Guys, you OK? He wants us to read The Borderland because that's where you are.

The Borderland

Complexity is not of God. How COULD it be, when all He knows is One? He knows of ONE creation, ONE reality, ONE truth, and but ONE Son. Nothing CONFLICTS with Oneness. How, then, COULD there be complexity in Him? What IS there to decide? For it is CONFLICT that makes choice complex. The truth is simple; it is one, WITHOUT an opposite. And how could strife enter its simple Presence, and bring complexity where Oneness is? The truth makes NO decisions, for there is nothing to decide BETWEEN. And ONLY if there were, could choosing be a necessary step in the advance toward Oneness. What is everything leaves room for NOTHING ELSE.

Yet is this magnitude beyond the scope of this curriculum. Nor is it necessary we dwell on anything that cannot be immediately grasped.

Josh: It's important that you hear that last sentence because that last sentence defines, or describes the transition. On the other side, when the transition is completed, this is all meaningless. It's meaningless. You won't remember any of it. Is that OK with you? OK, I understand. There's a fear of letting go of the memory. I understand. That's why you need this transition and that's why I'm here. That's why this book has been given you. Now it's going to involve choice because the choice has already been made by you. OK we're going to use choice, offer you choice, another choice and this will be what we will read...

There is a borderland of thought that stands between this world and Heaven. It is not a place, and WHEN you reach it is APART from time. Here is the meeting place where thoughts are brought TOGETHER; where conflicting values MEET, and ALL illusions are laid down beside the truth, where they are judged to be untrue. This borderland is just beyond the gate of Heaven. Here is every thought made pure and wholly simple. Here is sin denied, and everything that IS, received instead.

Now what's wrong with that? Anything wrong with it? Everyone's in a hurry to get somewhere. Where you going to go? Why not just enjoy what he just said? You are at the birthplace of dreams. You are in a transitional frequency wherein which all your thoughts are joining and coming whole in you. What's wrong with that? I got a note from Ishwari yesterday. She's here. She's always been here with me. It's happening. This integration is occurring at this borderland of thought.

This is the journey's end. We have referred to it as the "real world." And yet there is a contradiction here, in that the words imply a LIMITED reality, a PARTIAL truth, a SEGMENT of the universe made true. This is because knowledge makes NO attack upon perception. (It's nice to hear that). They are brought together, and only ONE continues past the gate where Oneness is. Salvation IS a borderland, where place and time and choice have meaning still, and yet it can be seen that they are temporary, OUT of place, and EVERY choice has been ALREADY made.

Nothing the Son of God believes can be destroyed. But what is truth to him must be brought to the last comparison that he will ever make; the last evaluation that will be possible, the final judgment upon this world. (Read this very slowly, because this is for you) It is the judgment of the truth upon illusion, of knowledge on perception; IT HAS NO MEANING AND DOES NOT EXIST. This is NOT your decision. It is but a simple statement of a simple fact. But in this world there ARE no simple facts, because what is the same and what is different remain unclear. The one ESSENTIAL thing to make a choice at all is this distinction. And herein lies the difference between the worlds. In this one, choice IS made impossible. In the real world is choosing simplified.

Gaius – he reached the Real World. I'm just trying to clarify it and remove the obstacles, or the debris you've placed on top. You've reached the real world. You can make a real decision at last. Yes or no? Ana? You can make a real decision at last. You've reached the Real World. The alternatives have been clarified. Yes or no? Suffering, joy. Yes or no? It's very simple. Try not to lose sight of it. Losing sight of it is what the dream is. When you lose sight of the only choice you can make, you are dreaming. Go ahead. Truth is true and nothing else is true. You are seeing it for the first time, my friend.

You've found the real world. You've found the borderland of thought. Go ahead.

Salvation stops just short of Heaven, (where are you? You are just short of Heaven) for only perception NEEDS salvation. Heaven was never lost, and so cannot be saved. Yet who can make a choice BETWEEN the wish for Heaven and the wish for hell, unless he recognizes they are NOT the same? This difference is the learning goal this course has set. It will not go beyond this aim. Its ONLY purpose is to teach what is the same and what is different, leaving room to make the only choice which CAN be made. There is no basis FOR a choice in this complex and over-complicated world. For no-one understands what is the same, and seems to choose where no choice really is. The real world is the area of choice made real, NOT in the outcome, but in the perception of alternatives FOR choice. (Fuck, Jesus is incredible! He's incredible! You can't confuse it. It's perfectly stated.)

That there IS choice is an illusion. Yet, within this ONE lies the undoing of every illusion, NOT excepting this. (NOT excepting this. The illusion of choice is the last one to go) Is not this like your special function, where the separation is undone by change of PURPOSE in what once was specialness, and now IS union? (You see how He brought that in? How he introduced the idea of function – it's beautiful. What's the function? It's just a context. A context within which the real choice is being made) ALL illusions are but one. And, in the recognition this is so, lies the ability to give up ALL attempts to choose BETWEEN them, and make them different. How simple is the choice between two things so clearly un-alike. There IS no conflict here. No sacrifice is possible in the relinquishment of an illusion RECOGNIZED as such. Where ALL reality has been withdrawn from what was NEVER true, can it BE hard to give it up, and choose what MUST be true?

That's it my friends. That's where you find yourself. You are looking right at the illusion. Recognise it as an illusion and making the only choice that can be made, even though you don't know what that is. Even though you don't know what that is, you don't have a choice, because you've seen through the illusion. There's nothing else you can do except let go of the illusion. You've seen it for what it is. What's going to happen next? What difference does that make? Whatever happens next will be real, that's all you need to know.

I'm trying to show you the disposition necessary to submit yourself to this transition. You have to look at the choices to make the only choice possible. I choose the Truth. The rest is not up to you. The rest is not up to you. Good. I love you. I love you. I love you. You look good – you're just putting yourself in a position where you can be seen. Grace. Grace. Grace. Grace. Grace. By the grace of God are you awakened. You are exposing yourself to grace – it's A Course In Miracles. That's what it is. What did you think it was – a book? Don't make me laugh. I'm finished this one, now I'm going to start reading another one. I don't think so. You are looking right at the Truth.

Guys thank you. You look beautiful. We're very very close. Love one another. Support one another. Good. And my suggestion to you if you run into opposition, stay fixed in the Light. There's no point in arguing – you are not going to convince anyone. Stay fixed in the light and ultimately everything will join you there. I'm trying to relieve you. It's the mind that decides. All I did was come in and stay fixed on the Light. That's what makes this job very simple. Everything changes. Thanks guys. I love you. Thank you. Thank you. Really it's just a quiet recognition, a nod. You don't even need to speak about it. It serves to acknowledge it and that's why we're together. To acknowledge it and nothing else – everything else is an illusion.

What is the body? A perfect reflection of a mind come whole.

Just remember to breathe. There's nothing else you can do anyway. There's always a solution. It's an act of surrender. Easiest way is to breathe. You can't do anything about anything, so stop trying. You keep trying to do something about what you perceive as a problem. Jesus shows up and says "Hey! There's no problem" there's no problem. What you think of as a problem is what waking up is – that's what it looks like. Guys, I'm trying to get you to perceive this differently. What you perceive as a conflict, is what the healing looks like. Everything is exactly as it should be. It is being accomplished by Him.

You are responsible for your own dream. You are responsible for healing your own mind by exposing it to the healing influence. That's your only responsibility. There is now way you can determine the outcome of another's dream – you can't do it. I'm not doing that anyway. I'm influencing the outcome just by being here. Why are you judging the healing that's going on? You can't judge it. I'm here and it's affecting everything. It must be so. I am the healing agency. You don't repeat the healing. Why would you judge it? It's whole. It's complete. It's accomplished.

The ego strategy is, I'm here until the world is healed. In other words, there's something here I must accomplish by being here. It is accomplished in Him. God is responsible. Now that's a shift in perception and it's exactly what today's lesson is all about. When you reach the real world, you see the alternatives with clarity. The whole thing is an illusion – it's a lie. Your need to save the world is a lie. It's a lie. Salvation is a lie. Didn't Jesus just say it? Not excepting this one – including this one, it's a lie. Of course.

Now the ego will call attention to itself – come on grow up with me please – and say, "I am the saviour of this world". It's not true. You are not saving anything. There is no world. That's what I'm trying to offer you. there's nothing going on out there. Nothing. Nothing. It's a perception. I'm not saving anything. What am I doing? I'm being myself. I'm being the alternative that I've discovered by grace. What effect is that going to have? How the hell do I know? I don't know how it's going to be received. I don't care. Guys, I don't care! I don't care how it's going to be received. It's not my concern. I don't know. I'm trying to offer you everything. I don't give a shit! I don't care about this. You can sing praises, – it makes no difference. That's not why I'm here.

It is accomplished and it is accomplished in Him. If anything what I'm witnessing is the picture of its accomplishment and it looks like everything. It not only looks like those who are agreeing with me, it also looks like those that are disagreeing with me. Did you hear me? That's how free my mind is! When somebody disagrees with me I say "Hallelujah!" Yes or no? Can you hear me? It's just a matter of perspective. It's all healing. It's the One Mind making a decision. There are no degrees of denial. There are no degrees of denial. Truth is true and nothing else is true. The whole thing is an illusion.

The whole thing, Gabi, is an illusion. The whole thing is an illusion. Everything is an illusion. Everything that you do to reconcile yourself is unnecessary. It's an illusion. Will that stop you from doing it? Shit! I love you guys. I don't care what you do. It doesn't matter to me. It's reconciled because it is already reconciled. Not by anything that you do. Its so much easier than you think. Why? It's accomplished. It IS accomplished already. Everything I do therefore is part of its accomplishment. I taught it yesterday. Listen: if Jesus is the Alpha and the Omega, then you must be in there somewhere. I love you guys. Thank you. You are not being judged, in other words. Thank you for playing your part. We have a laugh on the other side about playing your part – it's a joke. It's a joke – playing your part. As if your part was really necessary. You see that? It's a joke! Nothing was necessary. The ego strategy is to call attention to yourself as if something is going on – you're saving the world. We have a little laugh about that on the other side. It's just a part.

I'm offering you a brighter perspective. I got a letter this morning: I've removed you from Facebook – this is a long-term association of mine – because I want to know that the solution is within me. That's pretty funny! It's a curious thing to say. Well, if you removed me, I hope you removed everyone! No, I kept everyone else – I just removed you. I don't understand. – it's just a stage you go through. You have to deny your saviour – you have to. You must. I went through it.

You deny your saviour because you really think he's a body. You really think he's out there. I'm going to look within. You ARE looking within right now! You can only look within – and that's why the Salamanders appear. You are only seeing evidence within your own mind of the resolution that's occurring within you. What's the picture of it? An effect. If you want to look at my dilemma as saviour of the world – I have to present myself as an appearance all the while knowing the appearance is an illusion. How else am I going to reach you? How else you going to find me unless I plaster my face on Facebook? I don't know how else to do it. I'll do what this other guy does – I'll put a picture up of Jesus. Its just as much a lie as a picture of Josh. It's an attempt to circumvent the obvious need of a bridge – you can't get around the need for a bridge. In other words, you need a voice that you can understand, that's acceptable to you. You can't circumvent the transition. Oh, but oneness is. Yeh? What the fuck are you doing here? YES OR NO? What are you doing here? You gotta laugh at this.

When you realise Oneness, you will not be confused by this because you know different and that's a perspective – that's what I'm trying to offer you. This is a picture or an effect of Oneness – that's what healing is. That's the frequency that I'm offering. It's called The Borderland. I'm doing the best that I can. There's no paradox. The paradox is an ego strategy – not true. I love you guys. I love you. It is accomplished and the evidence is all around you – the Borderland of thought wherein which everything is reconciled. And you learn to laugh. One final thing. Say to me, I've been a liar from the beginning. God bless! That's all you need to remember.

This merkabah is comprised of minds that are joined in a single purpose. If you run into trouble, you have each other. They hesitate to turn to one another thinking that's what idolatry is, but you've already forgotten that you are only turning within. There's no one out there. We are in each other's minds. I'm already in there. You can't escape me. I'm not an idol. I'm in there. I'm just not an image. I'm a thought in your mind. And you can use me because you're not separate.

What I'm really hoping to see on Galactica, I'm hoping to see Gaius as the dreamer of the dream receiving all of the help from the formulations all around him in order to transcend his own denial. Do you think its time for that? It's a perfect context. The cue was just a voice in his head. All of the fear, all of that stuff – it's the perfect set-up, cues of your own awakening all around you.

If you have any questions, ask Max (the dog). He likes to teach. A lot of energy...